SWEET'S PLAN FOR LABOR SETTLEMENT FAVORED IN HOUSE

VOLUNTARY CONCILIATION OF DISPUTES MADE PERMANENT RAIL LEGISLATION.

STRIKES BANNED

Proposed Action to Prevent Walk-Outs and Lock-Out, Considered.

(BULLETIN)

Washington, Nov. 14.—Compulsory arbitration of railroad labor disputes was rejected today by the house, which voted 151 to 75, to substitute in the pending railroad bill the plan of voluntary conciliation offered by Representative Sweet, republican, Iowa, and endorsed by railroad workers.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Advocates of the plan offered by Representative Sweet, republican, Iowa, for voluntary conciliation of labor disputes, to be written into permanent railway legislation were vigorously applauded today when the house resumed debate on the bill.

Representative Sweet said it would be to law the machinery employed before federal control of the roads ceased, with an added commission representative of both employers and employes to consider appeals and with no penalties against strikes or lockouts.

"Let the practical men from this industry settle their own disputes," declared Representative Nolan, republican, California, a labor union member supporting the plan. "For 23 years before federal control the men and their employers successfully settled their own troubles."

Unlawful Strikes Discussed.

Labor sections of the interstate commerce committee bill providing for voluntary arbitration with strikes and lockouts penalized, damages to be assessed by courts, were under consideration. The plan of Representative Weber, republican, Washington, to make strikes unlawful was discussed, some supporters of its general purpose, however, disagreeing with provisions making union members as individuals, liable for damages caused by a strike.

Former Speaker Cannon declared that strikes "should be made unlawful," pending a final decision of a mediation board. Representative Snell, republican, New York, urged creation of only one labor board as provided by the Webster plan, complaining that the establishment of several as set out in the other plans would not "get us any place."

Supporters of the plan in the committee draft of the bill urged it as a "middle ground" between the Sweet and Webster plans.

"The Webster plan is so un-American that it is unworthy of consideration," declared Representative Burke, republican, Pennsylvania. Pointing out that President Wilson in 1916 had urged congress to prohibit strikes and lockouts on railroads pending mediation of disputes, Representative Steel, democrat, Pennsylvania, announced that he would amend the bill to outlaw strikes or lockouts until the arbitration proposed in the measure had acted on disputes.

WRIST WATCH LOSING FAVOR; NEW FAD COMES

London.—The wrist watch, that article of use and adornment which won much scorn in America when the soldier boys started wearing it, is decidedly on the slump.

West End merchants say the market is almost at a standstill and cite two reasons: The taste for thin platinum and gold watch chains is growing, and when every pert flapper wears a wrist watch other people begin to find another fashion fad.

COOING COUPLE GIVES JOLT TO NEW COPPER

Topeka, Kan.—Lieut. Edward Stoll, newly-appointed traffic officer here, received a rude jolt recently when he stepped on the running board of a motor car bearing no license tag, but containing a loving couple.

With flashing eyes mlady replied: "We don't need any, smarty, we're not going to get married."

The copper fled.

ARTICLE 10 STANDS; SENATE ADJOURNS FOR MARTIN FUNERAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Nov. 14.—The foreign relations committee reservation to article 10 of the league of nations covenant stood today in the senate as a part of the pact in face of President Wilson's declaration that it would cut the heart out of the covenant.

The reservation, which has caused exhaustive debate in the senate, was adopted late yesterday by a vote of 46 to 33 in the exact form in which it came from the committee. Four democrats joined the republicans in voting to adopt the reservation, while the opposition was composed entirely of democrats.

The senate was in adjournment today on account of the funeral of Senator Martin, Charlotsville, Va., but tomorrow a vote will be called on the proposal presented by Republican Leader Lodge to invoke the cloture rule to limit debate on the whole treaty subject. The democrats were undecided today as to what action they would take on the proposal as they fear it would prevent them from securing action on their own ratification resolution. They were expected to press for adoption the democrats' plan to limit debate only on the reservations.

The reservation to article 10 provides that the United States shall assume no obligations to preserve the territorial integrity of political independence of any other country or to interfere in controversies between nations.

R. C. DRIVE PLANS TO INVADE STORES

Saturday will be the wind-up day in the drive for memberships in the Red Cross. An intensive campaign will be put on tomorrow in the downtown district. At this time Red Cross workers in the wards and factories will solicit those who come down town. Fourteen high school girls will have charge of booths which will be placed in the principal stores, banks and the postoffice.

It is hoped by the committee that all who have not already subscribed with avail themselves of the opportunity to become members. This will be the last chance people have to enroll in the Red Cross.

Word was received from Avalon today that 171 memberships had been taken. Milton reports 285 subscriptions.

COLLEGE WORKERS REDOUBLE EFFORTS

Redoubled efforts of solicitors in the Wisconsin college campaign were promised at the noon luncheon at the Y. today when word was received that $175,000 had been subscribed in the state within the past 24 hours. Although the drive is apparently lagging in Rock county, workers plan to get into their full stride tomorrow in an effort to boost Janesville's total to a point near the $60,000 quota for five years.

County Chairman W. S. Perrigo, Beloit, reported enthusiastically on the organization of the campaign in the rural districts and predicted success in the county. He emphasized the necessity of showing speed in the cities and villages.

W. H. Dougherty made a plea for more action so that a substantial total will be evident at the next luncheon which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday noon.

In addition 26 alleged members of the I. W. W. were held in jails at Centralia and Chehalis, Wash.

Mill Worker Shot

A former service man, acting as a guard, fired the shot after Godfrey had disregarded the command to halt, repeated several times.

Efforts of officers charged with the duty of prosecuting the 26 alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World held in jails here and at Chehalis, Wash., was centered today on learning whether former soldiers in any degree provoked the attack by leaving the line of march to force their way into the I. 1500 MEN NEEDED TO CARRY ON BUILDING

Twelve hundred to 1500 more men are needed by the Dupont Engineering company for construction work here in erecting the various buildings of the Samson Tractor company, it was announced this morning. Scouts are now scouring the large cities in this vicinity for the labor.

A party of five men, headed by the chief scout, W. R. Phillips, and including Mike Mulquin and John Ward of this city, left this afternoon for Des Moines and Omaha, where they expect to gather up 500 laborers and bring them here Tuesday.

Only men who are American citizens are being hired. Grand Rapids has already supplied 450 men, 90 percent of them being men with families who are attracted here by the boom, and who are coming to make this their permanent home. An average of 150 new men a week are being brought in.

SUPERVISORS SEE NEED FOR ADDITIONAL ROOM AT COURT HOUSE

Request for a new building with modern equipment to house the educational department of the county; and the probable need for building an addition to the county court house in two years because of the rapid growth of the county were the outstanding features of this morning's meeting of the county board.

The new educational building was asked by O. D. Antisdel, superintendent of schools. It would house the training school, which has become inadequate to handle the increasing number of pupils learning to be teachers; the office of the superintendent; and the county agricultural school. Action was deferred until the January session.

Need Better Rural Schools.

Need for better building and sanitary conditions in the rural schools of the county was brought out in the discussion this morning which preceded the adoption of the superintendent's report. Many of the school structures are at least 20 years old and some 50 years.

While some of the schools have more improvements today than a few years ago, the superintendent admitted that they are not modern. Answering Supervisor Wilson Lane's advice that more stress should be laid upon having better buildings with finer equipment and more congenial surroundings, he said that this was difficult to have unless entirely new structures are built. In the matter of better sanitation and sewerage systems, Mr. Antisdel said that cesspools are not adequate, and that his office is endeavoring to find a practical chemical system.

In commenting upon the superintendent's statement that most teachers do not stay longer than a year in rural schools, Mr. Lane made the claim that very likely this is due to poor conditions, forcing teachers to turn naturally to more modern institutions.

Salaries of school teachers, the report stated, average $77 a month for the first year, some receiving only $60. The amount increases with the second year and thereafter because the state gives aid in monthly sums of $2 for the second year of teaching, $4 for the third, and $8 for the fourth. This brings the amounts paid in some cases up to $100 a month.

Room Needed at Court House.

In the matter of an addition to the court house, it was shown that the offices of the register of deeds, county clerk, circuit court and county court are now working to capacity and that with the constantly increasing amount of business done, the office room and vaults of these offices of the county government are getting too small. However, a committee of the board has looked over the situation, and reported that by rearrangement of the filing systems and the addition of a few more files, the present building will do for two more years, but not longer. The office of the register of deeds alone will demand four more girls in the near future to endeavor to get the work of that department up today, it being behind now.

Action on the appointment of a county nurse, was deferred until the January session. All other matters acted upon were routine.

Assurance that the county will eventually have a tuberculosis sanitarium was given in the adoption of a resolution to purchase the Hemmingway farm adjoining the county farm for $22,000. The property consists of 100 acres bought at a price of $210 an acre. Action upon the construction of a building of 80 rooms, at an estimated cost of $100,000 was deferred until the January session.

A hot and wordy debate upon the proposition of putting up a building ensued on the floor of the chamber between Supervisors George Woodruff and E. D. McGowan, both of Janesville. Mr. McGowan insisted that the present is not the proper time in which to construct because of the already heavy budget of the county which is fixed at $450,000. He declared that he does not oppose the charitable phase of the matter, but that there are other things to take care of now.

Mr. Woodruff on the other hand said that he believes more in being sympathetic than being economical. "We are trying to keep our budget down," he said, "but you must remember that this county is steadily increasing in population. This subject has been put over for ten years for various reasons. Meanwhile people who should be in confinment are walking the streets and spreading contagion."

In this, Supervisor J. A. Denning, of Janesville, agreed.

Emphasizing the points brought out by Mr. oWodruff, W. S. Perrigo, of Beloit said that "Rock county as it becomes more of an industrial center it is becoming more and more in need of a sanitarium.

A report of the committee upon highways, which was adopted by the board, stated that $26,610 is available for the continuation of trunk highways within the county.

CHICAGO READY IF JUDGES HAND IN WET INJUNCTION

400 RESERVATIONS BOOKED AT DOWN TOWN CAFES AWAITING COURT ACTION.

BEER CONFISCATED

500,000 Pint Bottles Sent From Kenosha Confiscated at Zion City.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Four hundred reservations at down town cafes had been booked today in anticipation of an injunction being handed down tomorrow by Federal Judges Carpenter and FitzHenry who have under advisement pleas for restraining orders to prevent enforcement of the war time prohibition law. Stocks of bonded whiskey were at the Kentucky line awaiting favorable court action here, it was said, and 20,000,000 gallons of liquor were available in Chicago. Saloon owners said liquor selling here could be resumed within an hour should the restraining order against the government be issued. Many have taken steps to obtain city licenses, which they have figured, will cost $2.74 a day under the present city ordinance.

Beer Is Destroyed.

Zion City, Ill., Nov. 14.—Five hundred thousand pint bottles of beer were destroyed by local officials here today in accordance with an order issued by Judge Edwards of Lake county.

Deputy sheriffs and policemen armed with hammers worked for several hours smashing the bottles and the beverage flowed into the city sewers.

The beer was seized by local authorities under the Illinois search and seizure law several weeks ago while being transported in motor trucks from Kenosha, Wis., to Chicago.

Distilleries Sell Whiskey.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—Two distilleries sold whiskey openly in Louisville regardless of the wartime prohibition law. Hundreds of orders were being filled by these distilleries after granting of an injunction to them on Judge Evans restraining the government from interfering with the sale of nearly a million gallons of whiskey.

Wright and Taylor, and the Brown-Forman companies, which received the temporary injunctions, expected to sell all of their whiskey in a hurry, it was announced. They made their sales, however, with the knowledge that they are liable to prosecution, according to District Attorney Gregory, if the federal supreme court reverses Judge Evans' decision.

Other Kentucky distilleries apparently were disposed not to ask for injunctions and would await the supreme court's decision.

Would Set Aside Injunction.

Boston, Nov. 14.—Federal district Attorney Harvey A. Baker, Providence, will tomorrow apply for a writ to set aside the preliminary injunction granted Wednesday by Judge Arthur L. Brown against the enforcement of the war-time prohibition act. The application will be made in the circuit court of appeals here.

TEACHERS' PAY IS WAY BELOW LIVING COST, CHART SHOWS

BOARD OF EDUCATION CONSIDERS PETITION FOR INCREASED SALARIES; BUDGET OF YEARLY EXPENSES PRESENTED WITH APPEAL.

(BY GEORGE KALVELAGE)

How can 50 percent of the grade school teachers in Janesville live when they are receiving but $850 or less per year while living expenses amount to nearly $1,300?

With the same living cost, how can half of the high school teachers live on a salary under $1,100?

Should not public school teachers be given a raise when the average salary for women in industrial work here is $1,200?

These are but a few of the many questions members of the board of education are asking themselves this week as the result of the school teachers' petition for a $300 salary increase. Members of the committee on investigation are beginning to believe the teachers have just cause of complaint.

Charts Are Prepared.

Charts which graphically depict the justification of their petition have been prepared by the teachers after much work and are now on file at the board of education office. The charts are interesting in that they tend to show how far underpaid are Janesville teachers, especially when the cost of board and room is so high here.

The average teacher's expense account totals $1,266 per year, they say, divided like this: Board and room, $12 a week, $624; laundry $52; clothing, $390; teachers' associations, $25; professional reading, $6; school materials, $6; state pension fund, $15; summer school, $150. Total, $1,266.

In the clothing figure they mention a few items as an illustration: One pair shoes, $10; one winter coat, $100; one winter suit, $50; one winter dress, $40; one hat, $12. In the $1,266 total they do not include other expenses, namely church, dental and medical service, and entertainment.

Salaries of grade school teachers range from $850 to $960 as a maximum while high school teachers' salaries run from $900 to $1,700, another chart shows. This is exclusive of the principal. One-half of all grade teachers get not more than $850 and one-half of all high school teachers receive from $1,000 to $1,100, the chart points out.

Difference is Startling.

The difference between salaries of teachers and those paid other women workers is startling as shown by the chart. Here are a few of the salaries paid in Janesville as advanced by the teachers as an argument for a raise.

Men (allowing 300 working days per year)—paperhangers, $1,440; plumbers, $2,040; electricians, $1,680; machinists, $1,440; shoemakers, $1,080; auditors, $1,800-$4,000; concrete mixers, $1,440; teamsters (man and team) $3,000.

Women—Water office, $1,200; city librarian, $1,200; office, (experienced), $1,000-$1,500; stenographers, $1,500; office, (no experience) $900; hotel waitress, $1,200; tobacco workers, $888-$1,600.

Compared With Other Cities

How teachers' salaries in Janesville compare with those paid in Kenosha, Manitowoc, Madison, and Racine is shown in another chart. The figures for grade school instructors follow:

Racine—$900, no experience, $950, one year's experience; $1,000, two years' experience; with a $50 increase yearly until a maximum of $1,400 is reached after 10 years' experience. Maximum allowance of $100 on attending summer school.

Manitowoc—Minimum, $950; maximum, $1,225; teaching principals, $1,400-$1,700.

Kenosha, $850 to $1,700; Appleton $850 to $1,900; Manitowoc, $850 to $2,500; Janesville, $850 to $2,500.

More than 50 per cent of the high school teachers in Kenosha receive from $1,300 to $1,600; in Appleton, $1,200 to $1,400; Manitowoc, $1,000 to $1,400.

Salaries of the 26 teachers in the local high school are: $850 to $900, one; $900 to $1,000, one; $1,000 to $1,100, thirteen; $1,100 to $1,200, two; $1,200 to $1,300, three; $1,300 to $1,400, one; $1,400 to $1,500, two; $1,500 to $1,600, two; $1,600 to $1,700, one.

3 NEGROES, CHARGED WITH KILLING POLICE, PROTECTED FROM MOB

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 14.—Fearing enraged citizens might attempt to lynch three negroes charged with murdering one policeman and probably mortally wounding another in Wilmington, police last night rushed the prisoners to Philadelphia.

The negroes, Lemuel, James, and John Price, are being held in Central police station.

Police have been instructed to prevent the assemblage of crowds. Rifles and a machine gun are at police headquarters. The sale of firearms in the city has been stopped and negroes have been warned to keep off the streets.

The murdered policeman was Thomas L. Zebley. Harry C. Pierce, the wounded policeman, was shot three times and is not expected to live.

The shooting occurred when the two patrol men went to the Price home to investigate the stealing last week of scores of guns from a gun store. The guns had been pawned in this city.

"DRY" DRAGGED FROM STAGE IN STUDENT'S LARK HAS GOOD TIME

Johnson, the American prohibition worker and Anti-Saloon league organizer, who yesterday was dragged from a platform and badly handled by the crowd while making a prohibition speech, discussed his experiences today. He admitted that when he was first attacked he attempted to fight off the crowd but that when he found it was only a student's lark he entered the fun and enjoyed himself.

"The boys were all right," Mr. Johnson declared. "The police handled the situation well; if they had tried to force things a lot of people might have been hurt. I am sending this message to the students:

"You had a good time. I had a good time. I have no complaints, but if you want fun get into the game against the greatest enemy of the human race—drink."

60 PERCENT WAGE BOOST IMPOSSIBLE SAYS SEC. WILSON

NEGOTIATIONS FOR NATION-WIDE WAGE AGREEMENT PROVES TO BE SNAG.

OWNERS PRESENT

Representatives of Outlying Districts Attend Meeting Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Nov. 14.—In view of the world industrial situation it will be impossible to grant the demand of the union bituminous coal miners for a 30-hour week, Secretary Wilson declared today in opening the conference here between representatives of the miners and operators which he called with a view to bringing peace to the nation's coal fields.

Mr. Wilson said he had called the conference "not simply because there is a labor dispute in the mining fields, but because the world is still passing through a crisis."

"The stand pat position taken by the operators here also is an impossibility," said the secretary, rapping the table to emphasize his utterances. Admitting that the Washington wage agreement still was in force, the secretary declared the people were not "shylocks" and did not want to exact the technical provisions of a bond when the conditions under which the bond was made have changed.

Non Union Operators Refuse

Holding that their participation might be construed as acceptance of the union principle, operators of non-union coal mines outside of the central competitive field announced here today after a conferece that they probably would not accept the invitation of Secretary Wilson to take part in the conferences between union miners and operators to begin here today.

The output of the non-union mines is approximately 100,000,000 tons or one sixth of the nation's annual production.

The first snag the conference will run upon will be the unwillingness of operators outside of the competitive field to enter into negotiations for another nation-wide agreement similar to the "Washington wage agreement" made during the war.

Owners of outlying mines will attend today's conference, but will not agree to enter into the negotiations, according to F. W. Lukings, president of the southwestern interstate coal operators' association.

Representatives of outlying districts from Washington to West Virginia and from Oklahoma to Montana attended the operators' meeting. Some of the operators, feeling that they had no further interest in the proceedings here, planned to leave for their homes tonight.

Slight Increase in Output

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Slight increase in the amount of coal produced was in prospect today. The miners generally showed a disposition to await developments of the meeting today at Washington.

"Mats" Made by Stereotyping

By Grant M. Hyde

"Dad, I can't see how the type stays on those rollers on the big press the newspaper office. They run so fast that I would think it would all fly off."

"No, sonny, there is no type on those rollers—only big solid stereotyped plates. It would never be possible to fasten all the thousands of pieces of type in a newspaper page onto a round roller. So what they do is make stereotype plates. Then when the page is once made up, they can make as many plates from it as they please.

"To make the printing form of a newspaper page, printers must put together thousands of pieces of type, linotype slugs, and other pieces of metal—even the pictures are metal engravings. It takes a long time to do this and the page form is bulky, heavy and flat. Suppose they wanted to duplicate it—or to make curved duplicates for the round rolls of a rotory press—they'd have to do it all over again. But stereotyping is a quick, cheap way of making such duplicates.

"The first step consists in making a papier-macho (pasteboard) mold of the type form. This is done by wetting a sheet of pasteboard, spreading it over a type form, and placing the form and pasteboard in a press that is heated by steam or electricity to bake the pasteboard. The result is a matrix, or mat, that contains a mold of all the type in the form.

"The mat is then placed in a casting box, and molten metal is poured over it. After flowing into all the depressions in the mat, the metal hardens into a plate that is an exact copy of all the type and will print the same words and pictures. If the casting mold is curved, the mat is bent and the resulting plate is curved for the rotary press. Many plates may be made from one mat.

"Distributors of newspaper articles, ads, or pictures, often use the process to save extra typesetting. They set up the type of their articles, make many stereotype copies or plates of it, and send these 'boiler plate' copies to the newspapers."

Now to Earn Money

Outside of School

Shopping Service

By Marie Scoville

"I must have this exact shade of green thread to finish Mrs. Lardner's dress." Thus spoke my dressmaker and I glanced up from my fitting to see a brighteyed girl of fifteen, school books under her arm, taking the samples of cloth out to her.

"That's 'Margaret,'" Madam Jeanette remarked later. "I couldn't do without her valuable services after school and on Saturdays.

"A year ago she came to me saying she wanted to earn money and would run errands after school. I was delighted and suggested that she shop for me, buy buttons, hooks and eyes, and all those small articles that a dressmaker so often needs at the eleventh hour to finish a frock.

"She proved so bright and displayed such good judgment that now I have her buy even expensive velvets and silks and through my recommendation she does last-minute-shopping for two other modistes. I pay her four dollars a week and her carfare."

On the other hand, a girl could shop for the busy housewives at the local department stores. This note mailed to a list of busy matrons would rapidly secure for her a clientele.

"Have you some errands for me? Little errands, big errands, any that will lift some of the burden of the days from your shoulders. I am ready to buy anything you wish. Phone me to talk your shopping problems over."

When a girl has secured a sufficient number of customers she can, by patronizing continuously certain shops, obtain from them a ten percent discount on all purchases. The customer on her part, pays to the shopper for this service a fee of five percent.

By establishing a list of customers in this way and taking the course in sewing and designing while in high school a girl would be fitted when she was graduated to start a "shopping service" upon a larger scale, making yearly trips to a fashion center to gain up-to-the minute ideas and thus become a success in an original and interesting way.

R. R. Conductor Feel Fine, Now

Captain Shackley Says Tanlac Was Worth Weight In Gold To Him

Most everybody who travels over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad between Milwaukee and La Crosse knows Captain Leroy Shackley, the popular conductor on passenger trains No, 6 and No. 101 making these two points.

Captain Shackley has been with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul for the past thirty-seven years. He has been a passenger conductor for thirty years and most of this time on his present run. For the past eight or nine years Captain Shackley has lived at 177, 14th St., Milwaukee, but he has also resided in Tomah and LaCrosse and numbers his friends by his acquaintance.

Captain Shackley has suffered much annoyance during the past five or six years, and not being able to find relief through the ordinary treatment, he decided to resort to the Master Medicine, Tanlac. So a few weeks ago he purchased a bottle, which helped him so much that he bought another, then another and so on. But let Captain Shackley tell his own story, in his own words. Here is his statement:

"Well, for a fact, Tanlac has done me more good than everything else I have ever taken," said Captain Shackley, while in the Central Drug Store at Milwaukee, "and I have been trying for the past five or six years to find something to put my stomach and kidneys in order. It seemed, however the more medicine I took the worse off I got and at the time I began taking Tanlac I was in a mighty bad fix. I could not eat anything without bloating all up with sour gas and suffering severe pains. I had that lump like feeling, familiar to so many people, in the pit of my stomach, and I would often get so dizzy and blind that I could not walk straight. Usually after eating my heart would palpitate something awful and I would get very short of breath and feel like I was smothering. The small of my back pained me so I could hardly stoop over and straighten up, and it was an effort to me to get out of my chair. These pains would often strike me at night and between my nervousness and misery I got very little rest. I could never eat anything in the mornings and that tired, no account feeling was with me all the time.

"About the wisest decision I ever made was when I made up my mind to try Tanlac. I now fully agree with others who have said that it's worth its weight in gold. Meal time comes too slow for me now and I can eat just anything I want without a particle of trouble afterwards, and I have already gained several pounds in weight. I sleep just fine, get up mornings ready for a hearty breakfast, and feeling almost as good as when I first got my run, thirty years ago. The pains have disappeared from my back, the headaches and dizzy spells are gone, and my stomach really feels like a new one. In fact I am feeling like a new man and I want everybody to know that Tanlac is what brought about the change."

TANLAC is sold in Janesville by all leading druggists.

THREE PUFFS IN MINE, $5.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Thomas Rowland, an old miner, pleaded guilty before Judge Garman to having violated the mine laws by smoking in a gaseous mine. He was employed in the Woodward mine, the most gaseous in the Wyoming valley.

"I am guilty," he said. "I only took three puffs." "Those three puffs," said the court, "might have puffed you into eternity." Because of the age of the defendant the court was lenient and imposed a fine of $5 and costs.

When It's Chow Time at Samson

(BY PEG O'BRIEN)

Corned beef and cabbage was in the air. "Bus" boys hustled from table to table laden with plates heaped high with piles of bread. In the kitchen six enormous hotel ranges were radiant, doing a turn, potatoes, meat, and cabbage.

White capped chefs, stirred, tasted, seasoned, and retasted the steaming foods. At a long counter crisp white aproned maids were dishing up tapioca pudding. Six steam fed aluminum urns, containing each 60 gallons of coffee, rocked to and fro. The vegetable steamers simmered and stewed tomatoes.

Company comin' to dinner? No, just the regular family dinner of the Samson family which number 932. It takes, beginning at 11:30 o'clock, just 47 minutes to feed the entire family, says the steward, Parker Putnam. The 33 tables are filled three times.

All Paths Lead to Mess

All paths lead to the mess hall. From 11:30 on, they come from all directions, file into the hall and halt before "Count" or "Clip" Navock as many call him. A 35-cent coupon is clipped from the coupon book. The next halt in the line is made to stock up on eating utensils. Then tray in hand they make the food line, coming out with trays filled with the best that Chef Chadwick can turn out.

Caps are snatched off, they hop across the bench and the meal is attacked. Sharp raps on the aluminum pitchers tell the bus boys that more coffee is wanted. The men are allowed all the coffee and bread which they can get away with. Having eaten they leave the table, the place is cleared and made ready for the next group.

Chiefs Eat in Blue Room

Over in the corner of the hall a room has been partitioned off with rough boards. This they tell us is the "blue room" where the heads of the family eat. Four long tables like those in the cafeteria have been set up. The men are served the same food here as in the cafeteria.

Three meals are served a day. The total number fed yesterday was 2332. Those who ate breakfast at the hall this morning were served pork sausage, fried potatoes, oatmeal and milk, doughnuts, coffee and bread. Supper consisted of baked spare ribs and dressing, browned potatoes, macaroni and cheese, apple sauce, assorted cakes and coffee.

Takes Large Market Basket

How would you like to market for this large family, Mrs. Housewife? For the dinner you would have to purchase potatoes, 8 bushels; meat, 550 pounds; cabbage, 700 pounds; tomatoes, 2 dozen gallon cans; bread 500 loaves; tapioca, 65 pounds; butter, 90 pounds.

Who will wash the dishes is not the problem here that it is in most large families. Little sisters are spared the task by an electric machine which washes 50,000 dishes an hour.

Now you know how the other half eats. Oh yes, I almost forgot to tell you the best news of all. Quartermaster Dalton let a little secret slip today. He said that a real Thanksgiving banquet will be served. Turkey? Yep, turkey at any cost, he says, and "punkin" pie too.

P. S. Women are positively barred from eating at the mess hall. Springtime may bring an eat house for them, rumor says.

CARELESS USE OF SOAP SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

Janesville school teachers have petitioned for increases in salaries and the school board is taking the matter under consideration. A chart has been prepared showing that the average yearly expenses of a working woman are over $1,200. It also shows that the salaries of grade school teachers range from $850 to $960 a year and those of high school teachers from $850 to $2,500.

The school board recognizes the necessity for paying instructors of our youth sufficient money to allow them to meet expenses. In order to keep high grade teachers in our schools it will be necessary to go a step farther and pay enough money to allow them to live in comfort.

The city of Janesville must compete with other institutions in procuring and keeping those who compose our educational forces. In order to get the best material obtainable, the school board must offer wages at least as high as commercial and business concerns pay. The demand for women workers is greater than it has ever been in the history of the United States. The war has shown us that women workers are efficient and dependable. The old belief that women were not up to the standard of men in certain lines of endeavor has been swept aside by the great achievements made by the women. Women are occupying positions today in Janesville which a few years ago were considered as exclusive property of men. They are filling them well and receiving good money for their work.

Because of the change in conditions school teachers are not satisfied to accept salaries which do not allow them to live comfortably. Even though they are willing to sacrifice a great deal for humanity, they should not be called upon to go in debt or give up comforts entirely in order to keep their jobs.

The taxpayers are not called upon to provide funds for a more important branch of the city government than its educational system. Upon the schools depend the future of this or any other commonwealth. Unless the young minds are trained by teachers thoroughly competent, the money expended is wasted. To obtain competent teachers it is necessary to pay them a living wage.

SOMETHING FOR THE IMMIGRANT.

It is well, in connection with the just denunciation of the immigrants who are found to have come here in bad faith, to consider the duty of instruction and protection that rests upon Americans with respect to the aliens who furnish good material for citizenship.

In the first place, it must be recognized that those who have been steeped in the experience and traditions of bad government get into the habit of doubting any government. The oppressed for a time mistrust all governments on account of the bad that they have known.

Even when they find a haven under some benevolent government some complain against it from force of habit. Of course, these types may be in the minority, but it is they who cause considerable trouble. Suppose, however, that some one of the oppressed comes here in the right spirit, looking upon this country as the land of opportunity that it is and ready to show his appreciation for it.

Frequently such have been left at the mercy of the unscrupulous, being swindled soon after their arrival and not finding justice in the petty courts in which they seek it, both from lack of funds to engage a lawyer and lack of understanding of their language. There it is! they may reflect. The same old treacherous government. And consequently they may turn to anarchy.

The Americanizers, then, must get hold of the immigrants at once, and warn them not to view our government in the light of what they have left, and then see to it that they are protected from exploitation. With but a little instruction of this nature they could be started right. Bear in mind that passing from one form of government to another, especially from a backward monarchy to a progressive republic, is a critical step.

The immigrants must be trained right from the start.

KEEPING ABREAST OF THE TIMES.

There are 21,664 newspapers and periodicals in the United States now, as compared with 7,916 in 1894, and the number continues to grow. Half of all the paper produced in the world is used in this country, though we have but one-fifteenth of the world's population. To read even an infinitesimal part of the current literature that especially appeals to one is a strain. Careful reading of one or two newspapers will occupy an entire evening. To peruse the entire contents of one of the largest five-cent weeklies would take four or five evenings.

To keep abreast of the times—to make oneself familiar with the latest developments in literature, art, the drama, science, politics and the other fields in which wide-awake persons are interested—is well nigh impossible. The average person does not have the time. The best that can be done is to read a newspaper or two with reasonable care, skim the cream of a few magazines, and at infrequent intervals peruse a book.

This condition has made it possible for some girls associated with the University of Chicago to establish a business which promises to be profitable as well as pleasant, since it fills a long-felt want. They read the most important publications and interview the college professors, and then issue a brief weekly review of the world of literature, art, drama, music and politics for the benefit principally of society women. Their clients, thus fortified, can discuss these subjects much more intelligently, at their dinners and club meetings, than if they did not have this service.

A good rule is to try to know something about everything, and everything about something. Of course it entails a struggle. But to have widely diversified knowledge, however scanty, makes life more interesting, while the possession of sufficient information on any subject to make one an authority on it gives one prestige, enables one to command respect whenever conversation veers in that direction, and is sure, sooner or later, to win one recognition as being worthy of attention.

AN INALIENABLE RIGHT.

The American colonies declared their independence in order that their inhabitants might be free to enjoy their inalienable rights—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The government was organized in constitutional form in order to protect those rights.

In the maintenance of life and the pursuit of happiness, work is necessary. It follows, therefore, that the right to work is inalienable, must be protected by the government, and cannot be denied by a labor union whose members decide that they will discontinue their own employment.

No other interpretation of this outstanding declaration of American principles can be made.

A cablegram from Paris says that the Chamber of Commerce of that city demands demurrage on 2,000 non-delivered packages containing Christmas gifts sent to American soldiers in 1917 and 1918. As Hamlet might reiterate, if in physical condition, "Thrift, Horatio, thrift!"

The "Flying Parson" has been offered $5,000 to appear in a film. Always rubbing it into the clergy—think that because they get so much less in the pulpit than those in other occupations that they would also cut rates for the movies!

The antics of the Bolsheviki have been so full of suggestions for attempted facetiousness that one wonders what the poor paragrapher will do when the Red performers are finally pushed off the map.

But, when you think it over, the big increase in hunters this season cannot be due to the high cost of living—for just count up what it costs a nimrod to bag even a pair of bunnies.

According to later details of the destructive storm in Argentina much of the damage was done by hailstones "reaching the size of an egg." Hen, goose or ostrich size?

Ludendorff has declined to accept Admiral von Hintze's challenge to a duel, probably being too busy explaining how he lost one battle to run the risk of losing another.

The former kaiser threatens suit against a moving picture man for misusing his portrait. Wouldn't he have an endless job if he should try to settle with the cartoonists?

Once again it seems apropos to observe that Lenine seems to be leanin' and Trotzky's on the trot.

BIRTH AND DEATH.

If little babies knew this old world they're coming to,
If they knew its grief and sorrow and its round of dreary strife,
If they knew the hurt and ache on the path that they must take,
I wonder would they venture through the swinging gates of life?

Would they fear the same as we, the new life that is to be
If they knew some distant morning they must journey to the earth;
Would they view the land of breath, as we view the realm of death;
Would they want to part the curtains on the mystery of birth?

Yet with all its grief and pain and its days of dreary rain
And despite the disappointments which the passing years may bring,
There are joys to compensate us, to entrance us and elate us,
And this mortal life we know of is the life to which we'd cling.

Babes may view the Land of Breath, as we view the realm of death.
Birth to them may be as dying, and we men who walk the earth
When we break through life's thin cover and pass upward, may discover
That the death we had been dreading is a brighter, happier birth.

"My, He Hates Himself"

IRISH PROPAGANDA

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

New York, Nov. 14.—Now that Ireland is prevented by martial law from being habitually vocal, New York has become its eloquent mouthpiece. Much of the revolutionary literature, suppressed by the British government, has been reprinted and is being distributed over here. Most of the secret meetings, barred by the British army of occupation, have been transferred to the East Side, Broadway, and the Bronx. These speeches of indignation, prohibited in Cork and Dublin, are being made about the streets of New York.

There is no escaping the Irish question here. It follows you everywhere. Pause ever so briefly on a street corner, and some one is certain to come along, climb upon a soap box and begin pouring violent denunciations of Lloyd George and Sir Edward Carson in your ear. Go to the theater, and you are almost always seated in the vicinity of some Irish nationalist, who does not let the play interfere with his explanation to a neighbor of why Ireland now refuses home rule. Go to a reception or tea, and you will find women wearing green smocks, exchanging signals in Gaelic, and able to talk about nothing more or less important than Irish freedom.

Not Confined to New York.

But Irish propaganda is not confined to New York. It is strewn, in the form of circulars and other literature, throughout the entire country, with an Irish national bureau in Washington to get the Irish question before congress, and Irish promoters of an Irish republic in all of our big Irish-American constituencies. The slogan, "No more American money to kill liberty in Ireland," is being played up in large type throughout the United States. America is tolerant and takes no offense because it is understood that this means, specifically, no more money for any political party which opposes Irish freedom.

According to the leaders of the Irish movement here, every effort is being made to throw the Irish-American vote to the republican party. Whether or not the republicans will do anything more for the Irish than the democrats have done remains to be seen, of course. They have made no promises. But, by defeating the democrats, the Irish hope to establish a grim precedent which should instil in the republican party a wholesome respect for the Irish question.

The hub from which all these spokes of propaganda are shot forth is the Irish Progressive league, which has its small but picturesque headquarters here over a laundry just below Thirty-fourth street, on Lexington avenue. The Irish evidently do not believe in wasting much money on luxurious appointments. They have only one room, containing rows of kitchen chairs for the benefit of the frequent lecture audiences; several small tables bearing heavy quantities of Irish propaganda literature, and the rest of the furnishings consist of vivid mural decorations.

Stars and Stripes Hang on Wall.

Stretched across the entire length of one wall are two flags—first, the Stars and Stripes, and next to it the Irish flag of green, white and orange stripes. Close to these are several wooden pickets with large cardboard signs bearing complimentary references to Ireland and caustic remarks concerning its enemies. There is also an easel portrait of our own great democrat, Thomas Jefferson, and beneath it what he said in regard to Ireland—"May she soon burst her fetters and take her rank among the free republics of the earth."

In charge of the bureau is Mr. Golden, an Irish-American from Cork, a slight, well-built man, with a strong but sensitive face and longish hair that supports with dignity a frock coat and an artist's tie.

"Our league," says Mr. Golden, "is an educational organization. At present it is carrying on its campaign on the streets, meetings being held under its auspices every night on some corner, where thousands of leaflets dealing with Ireland are given away. During the winter we are going to have lectures every Sunday night on the Irish question, and offer a course in Irish literature. We may even put on a series of Irish plays, since Cathleen ni Houlihan was such a great success here last year. We are also conducting classes in Gaelic."

At one time practically a dead language, Gaelic is now rapidly regaining its lost popularity throughout Ireland, and even here in America. According to Mr. Golden, it is a great language to pray in, and make love in, which is enough to make any language popular.

Propaganda Is of Two Types.

Irish propaganda, as distributed by the Irish Progressive league, consists of two types—praise and censure. Naturally, the praise is for Ireland, and the censure for Great Britain. Ireland is shown as a naturally independent nation, with natural resources, separate and distinct racial characteristics, and quite as many facilities for taking care of itself as Serbia, Greece, Norway, Roumania, or any of the other small nations of Europe. Ireland is about twice the size of Belgium, Holland, Denmark, or Switzerland. It has twice as many people as Norway, and its annual volume of trade is almost twice as great as that of any of the other small European nations.

"Judged by any standard you may select," says the league, "Ireland is admirably fitted for freedom. She is large enough, populous enough and rich enough. For the money we paid England last year we could run the government business of Bulgaria, Switzerland, Norway, and Denmark, paying for all their police, soldiers, ships and guns. Is not Ireland fooled and robbed long enough?"

The propaganda against the British government is designed to show Americans that England has robbed Ireland, and that, although we do not recognize the fact, Great Britain is anxious to gobble us up too.

"It is not an exaggeration to say," declares one Irish circular now being widely distributed about the streets of New York, "that since the British were driven out of this country they have never abandoned the hope of getting the United States back under their control. It has been the dream of their statesmen and their politicians, and they have never lost an opportunity of advancing it by every open and every covert means that they could."

Illustrious Persons Quoted.

Evidence supporting this contention is offered in the form of remarks incautiously dropped by such illustrious personages as Joseph Chamberlain, Andrew Carnegie, and Cecil Rhodes. Mr. Chamberlain is quoted as saying that a world war and all the horrors that a world war would entail would not be too great a price to pay for a "better understanding" between the United States and the so-called mother country. Mr. Carnegie, it seems, went even further and defined this "better understanding" in the North American Review for June, 1893. "Let men say what they will," wrote the ironmaster, "I say that as surely as the sun in the heavens once shone upon Britain and America united, so surely it is one morning to rise, shine upon and greet again the re-united States—the British American union." But Cecil Rhodes, if we only knew, is our principal arch enemy. For, according to the Irish, "he left his immense fortune, in his will in 1876, to and for the establishment, promotion and development of a secret society, the true aim of which and the object whereof shall be the ultimate recovery of the United States of America as an integral part of the British empire."

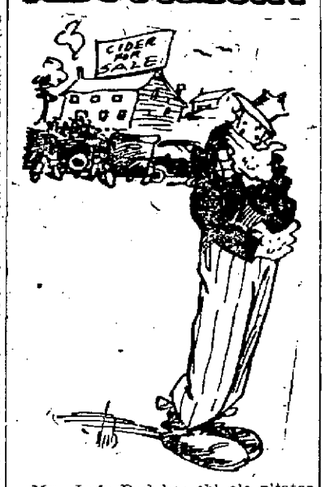

Thus Ireland endeavors to win our sympathy by telling us we are menaced by the same danger that has overwhelmed her.

Whatever you may think of the Irish question, you must admit that their propaganda, like so much else that is Irish, is picturesque, interesting and full of fight.

Pastor Goes to Bohemia.

Manitowoc—Departing for New York, Rev. F. Kolar, priest of St. Mary's Catholic hchurch of Reedsville, sails this week for a six months' stay in Bohemia to study conditions of the country and assist in relief work. Rev. Kolar is a member of a party of five, two priests and three laymen, who have been named by the national Catholic war council, with the sanction of the United States government, to undertake a campaign looking to the separation of the state and church in Bohemia and the conducting of the church on lines similar to those in voge in this country. A farewell was tendered Reverend Kolar by his congregation, at which the Rt. Rev. Bishop Rhode was present.

SOLITUDE.

(With all the necessary apologies.)
"Laugh and the world laughs with you,"
Were the words of a fine old song;
And in that gone day it was all o. k.,
But now that crack's all wrong.

Swear and the world swears with you,
Laugh and you laugh alone,
For who can grin when he's growing thin
Waiting at the telephone!

Weep and the world weeps with you,
Smile and you smile alone,
For who can do that looking for a flat
With each breath a stifled groan?

Starve and the world starves with you,
Eat and you eat alone,
For tell me who can eat Irish stew
When it's six bucks for a bone?
—Harry V. Philip.

I. Mazeppi is the new premier of the Ukraine. Welcome, I.

They are showing everything on the screen now except a good reason for the league of nations.

HIS NAME IS LEGION.

A large profound gentleman
Came into our office
Yesterday, and in the course
Of the conversation he said:
"I am glad that we have
Absolute prohibition
In this country at last.
It was high time that the
People of this country woke up
To the evils of the rum traffic.
I have fought for prohibition.
(He didn't look it at all.)
I have bled for prohibition.
I have always practiced
Total abstinence.
The whole country should Congratulate itself."
He rose to put on his overcoat,
And as he did so a pocket
On his right hip turned Almost inside out and—
There was a glass crush.
A pint had fallen
To the floor and was lost
Forever and ever.
"Too bad," he said mournfully—
"Too bad, indeed."

Soda clerks are demanding $40 a week. If this will allow a clean apron once a week, we are in favor of it.

Another thing to worry about: In ten years the descendants of a single pair of rats, if allowed to multiply undisturbed, would number 48,319,695,543,930,344,720, say figures by a well known scientist.

But a new patent rat trap is invented every 10 minutes.

NOTHING NEW.

There's nothing new in politics,
There's nothing new in art;
The Chinese say they knew it all
Before we got a start.

And men who view the pyramids,
And travel at their ease,
Declare that the Egyptians were
Ahead of the Chinese.

Each little jest that one essays,
Each passing verbal trick,
Is very likely to be found
On some Assyrian brick.

But why pursue the dreadful theme,
Since no relief we view;
There's nothing new in telling men
That there is nothing new!

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information, may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. How are the president and congressmen paid? P. R. B.

A. The president is paid by settlement warrant, which is practically the same as a check. This warrant is sent to him by messenger from the treasury twice a month. Senators and representatives are paid either by check or cash as they personally desire through congressional disbursement checks. When they are paid in cash they receive crisp new bills, as does nearly everyone who lives in Washington.

Q. How many battles did John L. Sullivan fight? C. D. B.

A. The records show that he fought 41 bouts aside from the tour of the United States he made in 1883-4. This tour lasted nine months, during which he knocked out 50 men. He had offered $1,000 to anyone who could beat him in four rounds, and the 50 men he knocked out were some of those who answered his challenge.

Q. What is the largest single check ever drawn? G. R.

A. The deputy treasurer of the United States says that a check for $2,648,309,171.53, signed by the secretary of the treasury June 30, 1919, was the largest check ever drawn. It was for public debt redemption and was made payable to John Burke, treasurer of the United States.

Q. Is it injurious to sleep on the left side? M. D.

A. There is a less burden on the heart when sleeping on the right side and it is therefore advisable to cultivate that habit.

Q. Did Theodore Roosevelt pay a visit to the pope on his European trip? W. S.

A. The former president of the United States did not have an audience with the pope while in Rome. An audience had been arranged, but at the last moment it was cancelled.

Q. What is the value of the tobacco crop raised annually and how much money is spent for tobacco in this country each year? J. J. C.

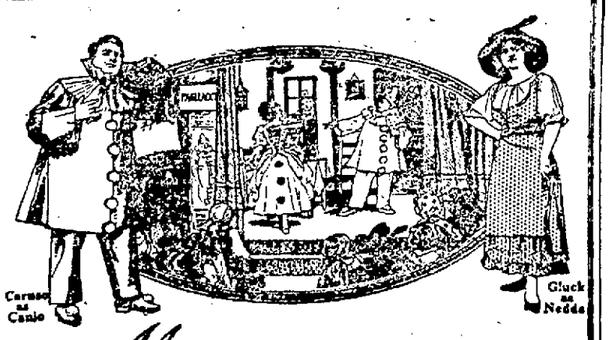

A. The value of the tobacco crop raised in the United States in 1918 was $374,318,000. It is estimated that 2 billion dollars is spent each year in this country for cigars, cigarettes, smoking and chewing tobacco.

Q. Will income tax rates be lower next year? H. M. D.

A. Under the terms of the revenue bill for the coming year the rate of income tax will be 4 and 8 percent instead of 6 and 12 percent as it was last year, a reduction of one-third.

Q. How much money has been paid as premiums for government insurance? D. H. P.

A. The bureau of war risk insurance says that approximately $250,000,000 has been paid as premiums on government insurance.

Profit from Idle Money

It often happens that people get money from the sale of property or from some other source and they have no immediate use for it.

While waiting for an opportunity to invest this money wisely it would be a good plan to get a certificate of deposit at the bank and let the money earn profit for you while you wait.

These certificates are available at any time and for any amount. You can cash them quickly and as easily as you would cash a check.

This plan is growing in popularity all the time as people understand this plan better.

CONCERT SPONSORED BY APOLLO CLUB IS OF UNUSUAL MERIT

(By MRS. DAVID WATT.)

A large audience at the Congregational church last evening heard a concert given by the Milwaukee MacDowell Orchestra and Mme. Georgia Hall-Quick. It was a notable program. A concert grand piano was on the impromptu stage. Around it the young women members of the orchestra of cellos and violins were grouped. The director, Miss Pearl Brice, a distinguished violinist, has imbued her musicians with her high standards of technique and poetic interpretation.

"Beethoven's Larghetto" was given with delightful musical feeling. In "Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony, Andante," the orchestra rose to its best. The rich sonsuous notes of the cellos carry the air first, which is then taken up by the piercing sweet of the violins. A wonderful climax is given.

The Greig number, "The Last Spring," was marked for its delicate and beautiful handling. Mrs. Georgia Hall-Quick's playing of the Liszt, "E Flat Concerto," was the sensation of the evening. It was given with orchestral accompaniment and was played with masterly interpretation and brought a response from the audience.

Mrs. Quick as a performer, is fluent and finished. She is master of the singing pianissimo as well as the more robust selections. The audience longed for more of her playing.

Miss Winogene Hewitt at the piano as accompanist, was brilliant. Seldom has one been privileged to hear such interpretation. Miss Hewitt is a musician and artist of no mean merit.

The opening program of the winter's season proved to be a great success. George S. Parker, president of the Apollo club, gave a short talk before the program. He spoke of the Apollo club as entering into its fifteenth year. The club has been fostered and supported by the music loving people of the city. On account of the war last year, it was given up. The warm response the public has given to the club this season shows that it has a place to fill in musical Janesville. Over 100 new members have been taken in.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man 19 years of age. Do you think I am too young to keep steady company with a young lady younger than myself? She disagrees with me and will very seldom make a date with me.

I went with a girl whom I liked very much, but she treated me coldly and I quit going with her. Now she is angry and says I owe her an apology. Do you think I do?

If I thought she cared for me I would go with her and quit the other girl. What would you advise?

YEOMAN.

You are too young to keep "steady" company." If I were you I would go with both the girls. You do not owe the girl an apology by any means, unless you have neglected to tell me part of the story.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a boy four months and am engaged to him now. He says if I refuse to kiss him he will think I love some one else. Do you think I ought to let him love and kiss me in order to keep him with me? Do you think he loves me? BOB.

I do not believe in engagements after so short an acquaintance. When a couple is engaged, however, it is considered all right for them to kiss each other.

Do not try to keep the young man if he cares only for your kisses. He should love your character and the companionship he can enjoy with you as well.

* * *

"Mrs. L. W.:": Consult the judge of the court of probate.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: About three months ago I met a boy and he has learned to love me. He objects to my going with other boys, but I think we are too young to just go with one another entirely. He can not see it may way and so we quarrel. I want to keep his friendship, but cannot do as he asks. Please advise me. We are 17. BLUE EYES.

You need not be afraid of losing the young man's friendship because you go with others. He may object, but when he sees that you are determined he will submit and like you anyway.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man of 33 and lost my wife. I have two children, ages 12 and two. I have tried to get a girl or woman and it seems impossible.

I have no bad habits and stay at home nights. I would like to keep my little family together. FATHER.

If you try hard or long enough, it seems to me that you ought to find a girl or woman to take charge of your house. Possibly it would be well to advertise for a widow with a child, or a matronly woman who would like a home.

Do not resort to marriage without love. If you find the right woman again, I think it would be all right for you to marry. So many men marry merely for some one to take care of the home and the chilren. This is almost always a mistake and turns out disastrously.

Your problem is indeed serious. Do not lose hope, however, because if you are determined to find some one you will succeed.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it all right for a girl to call a boy up over the telephone and ask him for a date if he doesn't know she wants one? Would he think more of her if she did not? MISS AVA S.

No, a girl should not telephone a boy and ask him for a date. Convention rules that the man seeks the girl. When a girl disregards this law she runs the risk of making herself a nuisance to him.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

No one but a woman could understand how I felt at the moment Jim answered, "Yes, I knew Eric Sands was in New York." Because none but a woman's heart is capable of two kinds of tenderness at once, the wifely and the romantic.

There was Jim, my husband, lying ill and needing my love and service. And there was Eric Sands, whose face had just startled me from the other end of a telephone wire—Eric from across the sea, Eric the embodiment of tender romance, the spirit of youth and irresponsibility, wrapt in a sort of mystery (for I have not seen him for 7 years), and touched with a thrilling danger.

"How did you know Mr. Sands was here, Jim?" I asked.

"Oh, I met that artist fellow, Landis, on my way home. He said he had an interesting invalid soldier staying with him—and mentioned the name," answered Jim, in a tired voice.

"Why didn't you tell me, dear?"

Jim turned impatiently in his bed. "Oh, because I was too sick, I guess—too sick of body and soul. Besides, I know that you knew."

"Jim," I cried, distressed to the very fibers of my beinb.

"Oh, what's the use pretending, Ann? I'm not an imaginative man, nor an unreasonable one, nor an overjealous one. But I know as well as if you had told me that the coming of this chap, with his shattered body and his atmosphere of romance, awakens something in you that I cannot. He strikes some chords I don't know how to produce. He represents the romantic, I the commonplace. I don't know how it will end, Ann. I'm a conventional, consovative man, brought up with the old-fashioned idea that a woman knows her mind when she marries, and then sticks to her choice."

"You're tormenting me, Jimmie!" I cried, miserably. "And you are taking a great deal for granted. I wrote to Eric Sands when we lived in Centerville that I was happily married. No doubt he is also. Don't you think, dear, you are making a tragic situation out of one which is quite harmless?"

I tried to believe what I was saying. I tried to turn my gaze inward and read the truth in my own heart. Women are so prone to give their love to men who love them—to fall in love with love. In other words, if Eric Sands turned out to be but mildly interested in me; if he were married; if he were engrossed in himself, as so many invalids are; then I felt I could easily weather the ripple of his coming.

If, on the other hand——

But what's the use writing it? It only fires my senses and feeds my imagination unwholesomely.

The fact that Jim did not reply to my last remarks passed unnoticed as my mind busied itself with rambling thoughts. His gaze, fixed staringly on my face, suddenly recalled me.

"No, my dear," he said, in that piteous, thin voice of the person in fever, "I don't think I am exaggerating. You are musing about Eric Sands at this moment. Do not imagine you can make me happier by avoiding meetings with him. You cannot fight a thing by running away from it."

The telephone rang again, sharply. I started, my strained nerves betraying me.

"I shall not answer it," I said, "and I shall give orders to the Boy downstairs that we are not to be disturbed."

"Answer it," said Jim.

"No," said I. "Please be quiet, Jim, and try to rest."

"If you don't, I shall. * * *"

GOOD CROQUETTES.

Chestnut Croquettes—When chestnuts are plentiful in the market they can be utilized in making dainty croquettes. A good unsweetened croquette is made by boiling the chestnuts and adding to a cup of the pulp two tablespoons grated cream cheese, and bits of sweet red pepper cut fine. Season with salt and white pepper to taste, and the beaten yolk of one or two eggs. Form into croquettes and roll in beaten egg and fine crumbs. Fry in deep fat a delicate brown. Sweet croquettes are made by adding to a cup of the pulp the beaten yolks of one or two eggs, and a fourth cup of thick cream sauce. Sweeten to taste with sugar. Mold and insert in the center a bit of preserved fruit. Roll in egg and crumbs and fry in deep hot vegetable oil. Serve with a hot lemon or orange sauce.

Salmon Croquettes—One can salmon, one cup cracker crumbs, two eggs, one tablespoon lemon juice, one-third cup milk, salt, pepper, parsley. Mix all the ingredients thoroughly (with the exception of one egg). Mold into desired shape, roll in egg (beaten) and bread or cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat until a golden brown in color.

GOOD OYSTER DISHES.

Grilled Oysters—Have large oysters opened on the deep shell and allow three oysters for each service. Remove from the shell and wash to free from bits of shell. Roll the oysters in fine bread crumbs and sprinkle with the following mixture for one dozen oysters. Mince fine four strips of bacon, one green pepper, one onion. Now pour one-half teaspoon of melted butter over each oyster and broil in the broiler of the gas range for eight minutes or bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes. Serve with slices of lemon.

Oyster Croquettes—Drain and then look over 15 oysters, and remove all bits of shell. Wash, then pat dry on a cloth and chop the oysters fine. Now strain the liquid and add sufficient milk to measure one and one-quarter cups. Place in a saucepan and add one-half cup of flour, one onion (grated), one green pepper (minced fine), and three bunches of parsley (minced fine). Stir to thoroughly dissolve the flour and then bring to a boil and cook very slowly for six minutes. Then add the finely minced oysters and add one and one-half teaspoons of salt and one teaspoon of paprika. Beat to thoroughly mix and then pour on well-greased platter and let cool. Set in the ice box for three hours to mold, and then form into croquettes. Dip in flour, lay on a wire spoon and baste well with beaten egg. Then roll in fine crumbs and fry until golden brown in hot fat.

THE DANGER OF BEING ALIVE (8)

Surgical Enthusiasm

There are far too many young braves handling the scalpel these days. I am strong for the young doctors; I'd pick a cub a year out of the hospital in preference to the average old fossil for a general medical examination or treatment. But a youth with a surgical enthusiasm is discomfiting. I realize that, now that I have outgrown my youthful aspiration to hack and carve.

In practice a young doctor has a sort of hunch that he must do a little plain and fancy crochet work on the human system in order to make folks realize that he knows something. For this the public is to blame, for the public still imagines that a doctor who operates knows more than a doctor who does not operate; there is a popular fancy that surgeons are more thoroughly educated or trained than just common doctors, which, of course, is not true.

A surgeon, particularly a young and eligible man, is exceedingly prone to feel his oats and he usually knows how to puff and blow about his work; then, too, he is almost completely surrounded by his little coterie of unsophisticated nurses who imagine it wouldn't be half bad to be a doctor's wife, etc., etc.—and you see how fine it is for the young cub. Scratch such a surgeon and you will discover a mediocre doctor; set him down in a country village a thousand miles from his operating-room and his corps of hospital colleagues, and he will make an indifferent showing. Yet in the hospital his work is brilliant; every patient that survives is given to understand that no one else could have accomplished the miracle.

Surgical enthusiasm has brought about the performance of a vast number of gastro-enterostomies—making a new passage way between the stomach and the bowel, in order to "short circuit" the alimentary mass past some point of trouble and thus give the point or trouble a long rest, to allow it to heal. Occasionally such an operation is really necessary; but experience has taught that the majority of such operations were undertaken too hastily, and that many of them have not only failed to give any relief but have actually aggravated the patients' troubles. Experience is a great teacher. The young cub doesn't get it out of books.

Waves of enthusiasm for this or that operation sweep over the medical profession from year to year, and the eager youngsters are too often knocked completely off their feet by these waves. They succumb to fads. Experience gives a surgeon more stability.

Recently we have suffered from a tidal wave of tucking up. Operations to tuck up colons, kidneys, stomachs, 'n' everything have been done with prodigious enthusiasm, and sometimes with prodigious success, for a month of rest, with good feeding and cheerful environment often accomplishes wonders for the lean, lank, long-waisted sufferer from loose kidney, gastroptosis and the like.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Eye Wash.

Some years ago I had a formula for an eye wash which had been prescribed, I think, by the late Dr. Agnew, an eminent oculist. My recollection is that it consisted of a teaspoonful each of borax, camphor and alum dissolved in a quart of boiling water. Is there anything about that likely to do harm? If not the best eye wash I ever used and I would like to try it again. (O. A. E.)

ANSWER—Better use only one-third teaspoonful of camphor and alum, and use boric acid instead of borax. Prolonged use of alum or other astringents in the eye is inadvisable unless there is some abnormal condition of the eyes to be treated.

One More Hiccup.

Slow, prolonged pressure on both eyeballs with the fingers will stop attacks of hiccups or very rapid heart action in many cases, according to the French physician Binet.

USE MARSHALL'S BEST FLOUR "NO OTHER LIKE IT"

Hello again!

Miss Individuality, that's right.

I just want to show you how carefully we handle the wheat from which we make MARSHALL'S BEST Flour.

We test it for color, texture and volume in order to get the very "cream" of the crop. Then we heat it and scour it, eliminating all dust and other foreign matter until the grain is spotlessly clean and pure. Then we grind it.

This is one little corner of our roller floor, showing a few of the rolls with their inter-connecting system of spouts, suction tubes, etc., by means of which we handle our wheat without ever touching a hand to it. That's what makes MARSHALL'S BEST Flour the finest flour in the world. No other like it.

Are you using MARSHALL'S BEST Flour now? If not, try it. You'll never accept anything else when you know it.

...The... Devil's Own

A Romance of the Backdawk War
BY RANDALL PARISH
Author of
"Contraband," "Shea of the Irish Brigade," "When Wilderness Was King," etc.

Copyrighted A. C. McClurg & Co.

"No doubt it was more my fault than yours. You are a free negro, then?"

"Yas, sah. I done belong onct ter Colonul Silus Carlton, sah, but afore he died, just because I done saved his boy from drowinin' in de ribber, de ol' colonul he set me free, an' give me a patch o' lan' ter raise corn on."

"What is your name?"

"Pete, sar. Free Pete is whut mostly de white folks call me." He laughed, white teeth showing and the whites of his eyes. "Yer see thar am a powerful lot o' Petes round 'bout yere, sah."

I drew a deep breath, conscious of weakness as I endeavored to change position.

"All right, Pete; now I want to understand things clearly. You shot me, supposing I was making an assault on you. Your bullet lodged in my shoulder. What happened then?"

"Well, after a while, sah, thar wan't no mo' noise, an' I reckoned I'd either done hit yer er else yo'd run away. An' thar yo was, sah, a-lyin' on yer back like ye was dead. Just so soon as I saw ye I know'd as how ye never was no nigger-hunter but a stranger in dese yere parts. So I dragged ye inside de cabin, an' washed up yer hurts. But ye never got no bettah, so I got skeered, an' went hoofin' it down fer de doctah at Beaucaire Landin', sah, an' when he cum back along wid me he dug the bullet outer yer shoulder, an' left some truck fer me ter giv' yer. He's done been yere three times."

"From Baucaire Landing—is that a town?"

"A sorter town, sah; 'bout four miles down ribber."

The mentioning of this familiar word brought back instantly to my darkened understanding all those main events leading up to my presence in this neighborhood. Complete memory resuend, every separate incident sweeping through my brain—Kirby, Carver, the fateful game of cards in the cabin of the Warrior, the sudden death of the judge, the mob anger I sought to curb, the struggle on the deck, my being thrown overboard, and the danger threatening the two innocent daughters of Beaucaire. And I had actually been lying in this negro hut, burning up with fever, helplessly delirious, for ten days. What had already occurred in that space of time? What villainy had been concocted and carried out?

"Now see here, Pete," I began earnestly. "How did you learn what my name was?"

"De doctah he foun' dat out, sah. He done looked through yer pockets sah, an' he took two papers away wid him. He done tol' me as how yer was an offercer in de army—a leftenant er sumthin'—an' thet dem papers ought ter be sint ter de gov'ner at onct. De las' time he was yere he tol' me thet he wint down ter St. Louee hisself, an' done git bof dem papers ter Gov'ner Clark. So yer don't need worry none 'bout dem no mor'."

I sank back onto the hard pillow, greatly relieved by this information. The burden of official duty had been taken from me. I was now on furlough and free to act as I pleased.

"Have you picked up any news lately from Beaucaire plantation?"

"I heered dey done brought de body ob de ol' jedge home, sah—he died mighty sudden sumwhar up de ribber. That's 'bout all I know."

"When was this?"

"'Bout a week, maybe mor'n dat, ago. De Warrior brought de body down, sah.

"The Warrior? Did anyone go ashore with it?"

"'Pears like thar wus two men stopped off at de Landin'. I disremember de names, but one ob 'em wus an ol' friend ob de jedge's."

I turned by head away silently, but only for a moment. The two men were in all probability Kirby and his satellite, Carver. Doubtless the Beaucaire property was already legally in Kirby's possession, and any possible chance I might have once had to foil him in his nefarious purpose had now completely vanished.

To be sure I had reasoned out to definite means whereby I could circumvent his theft, except take legal advice, confer with Governor Clark, and warn those threatened girls of their danger. But now it was too late even to do this. And yet it might not be. If Kirby and his confederate believed that I was dead, were convinced that I had perished beneath the waters of the river, they might feel safe in taking time to strengthen their position; might delay final action, hoping thus to make their case seem more plausible. If Kirby was really serious in his intention of marrying Beaucaire's daughter he would naturally hesitate immediately to acknowledge winning the property at cards, and thus indirectly being the cause of her father's death. He would be quite likely to keep this hidden from the girl for a while, until he tried his luck at love.—If love failed, then the disclosure might be made to drive the young woman to him—a threat to render her complaisant.

"Do you know a lawyer named Haines?"

"Livin' down at de Landin'? Yas, sah."

I lifted myself up in bed, too deeply interested to lie still any longer.

"Now listen, Pete," I explained earnestly. "I've got sufficient money to pay you well for all you do, and just as soon as you get me something to eat I want you to go down to the Landing and bring Lawyer Hales back here with you. Just tell him a sick white man wants to see him at once, and not a word to anyone else."

"Yas, sah," the whites of his eyes rolling. "He done know ol' Pete, an' I'll sure bring him back yere."

If Thin and Nervous Try Bitro-Phosphate

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorous may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION: Use White Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

How Strange Things Sometimes Happen

"I want to write you to let you know that I have taken two more doses of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and have gained 10 lbs. in the last 2 weeks, although I am thinner around the waist than before, because the bloating in my stomach has all gone and I am feeling like a boy again. There never was anything in this world half as good as this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Don't Get the Influenza

USE KRAFT'S PREVENTIVE

Read What Major George C. Ruhland, Milwaukee Health Commissioner, Says About This Remedy.

DR. RUHLAND'S STATEMENT

The Milwaukee Health Department says to YOU, "Use this prescription, we O. K. it officially and we urge that you use it 'NOW.' It will not in every case prevent the development of the disease, BUT IT WILL GO A LONG WAY TOWARD IT.

In previous epidemics it was successfully used—this time is will be equally effective.

The capitals are by Dr. Ruhland

Dr. Ruhlands' opinion was given in large newspaper advertisements last spring when a recurrence of the "Flu" epidemic threatened.

No doubt the wide use of this preventive at that time was a big factor in keeping the disease in check.

Kraft's Preventive is a powder. It is blown into the nostrils and spaces behind the nose where it is immediately dissolved by abstracting the moisture from the membrane, thereby cleansing and impregnating the membrane and preventing the lodgement of the influenza germ. This also means perfect disinfection, rendering harmless any germs that may already have found lodgement in the membrane and nipping the influenza in its incipiency.

The results in hundreds of cases, last year were so satisfactory and the means of immunization so simple that no one should take a chance when this preventive is to be had so easily.

The powder is equally effective in preventing colds in the head and in grippe. CHECK A "BAD COLD" and you have FORTIFIED YOURSELF AGAINST THE "FLU."

Recommended and prescribed by Milwaukee physicians as well as by the Health Department.

The powder should always be used in a powder blower. We have devised a simple and inexpensive blower that has proved satisfactory.

The Warning—Danger Ahead

DON'T let your kidneys be slackers: They are the organs that purify the blood—keep the intestines clean. On them depend the proper functioning of the bladder and stomach.

DON'T fail to heed the danger signal of backache, headache, dizzy spells, swollen joints, throbbing loins or sharp jabs of rheumatic pain.

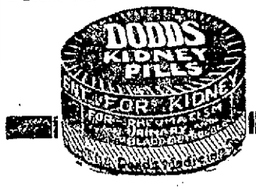

DON'T resign yourself to a life of misery. People sick and complaining aren't natural—can't be, and they are the biggest nuisance alive. Folks will shun you if you are always ailing.

DON'T grab at the first "cure" that comes along. Be careful. Take a tried and tested remedy that has been helping thousands for more than forty years.

DON'T accept substitutes—go to another druggist. Make sure you get the flat, round box with Dodd's name on the top. Remember—three D's.

SEE THE PACIFIC COAST THIS WINTER—AND SEE IT ALL

The climate of the Pacific slope—from British Columbia on the North to the Mexican border on the South—is mild and pleasant all winter, varying in degree of mildness as one journeys North or South.

Rose and geranium weather, for which warm ocean currents are responsible, makes it possible for the visitor—whether in Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles or San Diego—whether motoring along the Columbia Highway or El Camino Real—to view the scenic wonders of the Far West in comfort, and to engage in all out-of-door sports, as in springtime.

And the scenery of the entire trans-Sierra region is so varied—with its cloud-crowned peaks, its mountain-born streams, its waterfalls, its flower-carpeted valleys and ocean beaches—that no part of it should be missed.

TAIL-LIGHT FINE MAY BE LOWERED

Until a revision of the city ordinance covering the lighting of tail-lights on autos is revised by the council, it is probable that but few fines will be levied on violators. It is believed by Judge H. L. Maxfield that the minimum fine of $10 and costs is too heavy in many cases where violations are accidental and not intentional.

Roy Wiltz pleaded guilty today to driving his car without a tail-light. The case was held open until a reduction of the minimum penalty is effected.

FARMER CAN'T GET PHONE CONNECTION; HEARING IS CALLED

Complaint of J. C. Gilbert that the Wisconsin Telephone company has refused to install a telephone in his house has necessitated the calling of a public hearing by the railroad commission to be held in the city hall here at 10:30 a. m. Thursday. Gilbert is a farmer living several miles north of Janesville on the Evansville road.

He complains that the telephone company has a line running within a short distance of his farm but that he has been unable to get any service.

In complaints of this kind, the commission announces that it is generally able to bring the public service company and the complaining party to an "amicable understanding," but a public hearing is required when this is not possible.

The informal cases coming before the commission outnumber the formal cases, such as the Gilbert case, by a ratio of from three or four to one, the commission states.

RICHARDS WORKS BADGERS HARD AS OHIO STARTS WEST

Madison, Nov. 14.—The Badger squad was put through a double session yesterday, during which the final touches were administered in preparation for the invasion by Jack Wilce's Ohio State team Saturday. Wilce's Ohio State team Saturday. The eleven that will line up against Ohio was given an extended drill in defensive play behind closed gates at Camp Randall, followed by a signal practice on the tanbark of the stock pavilion after dark.

Badgers Show Plenty Pep.

A biting wind that swept across the practice field put new pep into the players, who have been plugging for two weeks with the purposed determination of stopping Chick Harley and his running mates.

Coach Richards has taught his proteges everything that could be ascertained about Wilce's offensive tactics and the team that will take the field will be equipped to minimize the most varied attack that the Ohio mentor can muster, with the chance of denting the Ohio scoring machine if the individual members of the Badger eleven come through with their share of the defensive work.

Ohio Gets Real Sendoff.

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—One of the noisiest sendoffs ever accorded an Ohio State team, featured the departure last night of the Buckeye team for Madison, Wis. Starting with a rally in the armory at 7 o'clock, the rally finished with a procession headed by the Ohio State band, marching to the Union station to say good-by to the idols of Columbus. The Buckeye mentor gave his men a thorough workout yesterday. Scrimmage was held, but precautions were taken not to injure any of the men. The full strength of the eleven will line up against Wisconsin, every man having been reported to be in good condition again.

Captain Harley said today that Ohio is prepared to open up with everything in the way of open field and trick football.

With The Hub pulling up slightly toward first place last night while the Arcades were idle and five teams tied for third place, rivalry in the City Bowling League is at the highest pitch. Basketball Prospects Bright.

Manitowoc.—The Manitowoc High High school will be represented by a fast basketball organization this year. A 12-game schedule is being arranged. Competition for places on the team is keen and the aggregation promises to develop some star material.

JANESVILLE HIGH WORKING HARD FOR GAME WITH BELOIT

Janesville High meets Beloit on the Fair Ground field here tomorrow. With the old hatred of rivalry that has long existed between the two schools, the clash promises to bring forth the best that there is in the local pigskin chasers.

The local boys are promising to pit their greatest strength and head work against the enemy. Though they have been weakened recently by the loss of Black who was injured a few days ago, while working in the labratory at the school, they have taken on new hope that they might win tomorrow.

Showings of the year make Beloit the favorite. The locals have had an off-season with no victories to their credit, while Beloit has been showing up in excellent shape.

Coach Lewis has been making numerous shifts in his line during the past week trying to place his men where they can do the best work. Gage, a new man, will probably be seen in tomorrow's game at left guard. He is a new man and therefore nothing can be said as to what he may pull off.

Hard gruelling in scrimmage work and signals has been the keynote of the work-outs of the Janesville eleven during the past week. The men have been drilled thoroughly by Coach Lewis on the Fair Ground field, putting in long stretches of strenuous work. Tonight they will go through signal practice preparatory to the test tomorrow.

Janesville has been unfortunate this year in having practically an entirely new team, most of the old men graduating last year. It has been an uphill fight all the way, and tomorrow will show how much improvement has been made in the past two weeks.

The probable lineup for the game is:

REAL WAR

When the Allied interference
Cracked the Hindenburger Line,
Yankee players grabbed the pigskin
For the touchdown on the Rhine.
Gains were made by open tactics,
Hitting quick and hitting hard,
With a break-away offensive
They outplayed the Prussian Guard.

Now they find the gridiron contest
Just a little ginger lacks,
And the method of the Argonne
Has been dropped for mass-attacks.
Belleau Wood, Chateau Thierry
Fell to Injun-fighting Yanks,
Now the fighting men in moleskins
Have been turned to human tanks.

Open playing beat the Germans,
But that seems a little tame,
Modern war is merely business—
Modern football is a game.
When a Doughboy meets a German,
That is just a little prank—
But it's quite a different matter
When a Yankee meets a Yank.

Some of the accounts concerning the behavior of negro troops have been colored, seriously asserts Secretary Baker. Even dyed-in-the-wool convictions concerning hair-breadth escapes, says ex-Sergt. SOL, are sometimes bald exaggerations.

FOOLISH FABLES

How a Worthless Young Man Became a Millionaire

Once upon a time there was a Worthless Young Man who hung around Ice Cream Parlors and spent his money on Loud Vests. The Hardest Work he ever did was to sign his Name to an I. O. U.

Then the War came on and he rushed into the Conflict via the Local Board and was sent to Camp. Here he spent a great deal of Time rising on his toes in Twenty-four Counts and learning to do Left Shoulder Arms without knocking his Hat off. He also did Other Things that he didn't write Home about.

Later on he was sent Oversens and had many Valuable Experiences, Bitter Hardships and Hairbreadth Escapes.

Finally he returned a New Man, Sober, and Industrious, and soon became so rich that hardly Anyone dared call him by his First Name and he was considered very Successful.

MORAL: The War has been the Making of Many a Man.

P. S. This is only a Fable. What really happened was this: He got himself exempted as Essential to Industry and went in for Government Contracts.

BETTER THAN DIAMONDS

Christmas will be sad this year,
With the Horrid Cost of Living.
Though the day be chill and drear,
Do not shirk the joys of giving.
With the scarcity of fuel,
Comes a thought to cheer the soul;
In these times of hardship cruel,
You can give your love a jewel—
Say a sparkling piece of coal!

Wrestler Caddock Signs To Meet Sam Clapham

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 14.—Earl Caddock, champion heavyweight wrestler, will meet Sam Clapham, heavyweight champion of Great Britain, here December 15. Gene Melady, local sports promoter, made the arrangements with Ed. White of Chicago, manager for Clapham. Caddock weighs 190 pounds; Clapham scales 210.

OLD STOUGHTON STAR WILL TAKE BIG PART IN WISCONSIN GAME

Guy Sundt, old Stoughton high school star, is expected to be one of the leaders in the Badgers' terrific attack against Ohio at Madison tomorrow. His playing will be watched with interest by Janesville fans who have seen him play here on various Stoughton athletic teams in recent years.

Sundt is one of the most reliable backs on the Badger eleven this year. As a kicker, he has yet to meet his superior. Several times in the Marquette game and again in the meetings with Northwestern and Illinois he came to the rescue with his healthy spirals.

He was the star of the Wisconsin S. A. T. C. eleven last year and was elected captain at the close of the season. When Carpenter returned to school he resigned his capacity in favor of "Chuck", winning a place in the hearts of the students by his unselfishness.

Dempsey Offered $175,000 By British Promoter

London, Nov. 14.—C. B. Cochran, the British "amusement king," will go to New York immediately after the Beckett-Carpentier fight, December 4, to complete negotiations with Jack Dempsey to meet the winner in June, 1920.

"I'll offer a purse of $175,000. It's the best bonafide offer that has yet been made," Cochran said last night.

Delafield, Wis., Nov. 14.—So confident is St. John's Military academy of whipping Shattuck academy here on Saturday that the local cadets have booked a game with the Kishkiminetas Springs school of Saltsburg, Pa., for Nov. 22 on the easterners' gridiron. The Kishkiminetas cadets now claim the national military academy championship and the winner of the intersectional class will have a clear claim to the title. STARVING MOSCOW NOT ENTHUSIASTIC OVER REDS ADVANCE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Nov. 14.—Because of the serious lack of food in bolshevik-controlled Russia and other economic difficulties experienced by the soviet government, not much real enthusiasm is felt in Moscow over the forward movement of the bolsheviki forces, according to advices received today by the state department.

The dispatches said that due to the lack of morale in the soviet armies, Trotzky recently ordered forces following up the bolsheviki armies to fire on any "red" soldiers who fell back. The soviet forces were said to number 200,000 men, distributed on the various fronts.

GRAIN

Chicago Review.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Notwithstanding that owing to advances in New York stock and to higher quotations on hogs, the corn market at first showed considerable strength, the effect failed to last. Enlarged receipts, together with clear, cold weather likely to hasten the crop movement, counted against the bulls. Besides, eastern demand was laggard. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅜c to 1¼c higher, with December $1.33 to $1.33½, and May $1.27 to $1.27½, were followed by a reaction to about the same as yesterday's finish.

Oats duplicated the action of corn. After opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, including December at 72⅞ to 73c, the market scored a moderate gain and then underwent a setback.

Upturns in the value of hogs lifted provisions. Business, though, lacked volume.

Subsequently, free selling on the part of commission houses led to a general decline in prices. The close was unsettled, 1¾c to 2⅛c net lower, with December $1.30¼ to $1.30⅝ and May $1.24⅞ to $1.25.

FINANCE

Wall Street Review.

New York, Nov. 14.—The feverish movement of speculative shares indicated today that the stock market was still in a state of transition. General Motors was a striking example, falling from 324 to 304, rallying to 316, followed by another setback to 307. Reversals of 2 to 7 points marked the early cost of other motors, also oils, steels, equipments and prominent specialties, the undertone becoming strong later, buying of rails under lead of Southern Pacific exerting favorable influence. This was tempered, however, by the money market, call loans opening at 14 percent as against yesterday's final rate of 6 percent.

Yesterday's vigorous rally in the stock market was extended at the opening of today's session, active issues advancing 1 to 4 points. Features of the recent depression were again the first to rebound, General Motors leading the list. Among the high priced specialties, American Tobacco, selling with a dividend of 6 percent, showed a gain of 20 points. Shippings and rails added to the market a broader foundation at advances of 1 to 2 points. Initial gains were materially reduced within the first half hour, General Motors reacting 20 points.

The effect of the 14 percent money rate, which ruled during the mid-session, was seen in the reduction of business. For the first time this week dealings dwindled to slender proportions. Reactions were soon recovered, however, rails continuing to sustain the general list.

Increased strength of rails and the decline of call money to 9 percent lifted average prices to highest levels in the last hour. The closing was strong.

STATE CORN CROP HAD SURPRISE IN STORE FOR BADGER FARMERS

The 1919 Wisconsin corn crop had a surprise in store for Badger farmers, states the November report of Joseph A. Becker, of the Wisconsin cooperative crop reporting service. When actually harvested, the crop yielded more generously than was anticipated during the preceding months. The average yield for the state is estimated at 47.0 bushels per acre, or a total production of 85,540,000 bushels as compared with 77,678,000 bushels forecasted on October 1, 69,538,000 bushels harvested in 1918, and a 5-year average (1914-1918) of 56,110,000 bushels. This sets a new record as the largest previous production was 69,862,000 bushels in 1914. The yield per acre in 1918 was 40.5 bushels, and the largest previous yield 41.2 bushels in 1906. The 10-year average yield is 34.1 bushels.

Killing frost held off until the crop was well matured, 97 percent of the crop maturing without frost damage. Intermittent rains during October have delayed husking, but the damage so far is slight. Quality of the crop is given as 96 percent of a high medium grade, compared to 86 last year and a 10-year average of 76.

Approximately 50 percent of the corn acreage, or 910,000 acres, was cut for silage this year, compared to 52 percent, or 893,000 acres in 1918, and 51 percent, or 978,000 acres in 1917. The average yield of corn for silage is estimated to be 9.3 tons per acre, compared to 8.3 tons in 1918 and 7.0 tons in 1917. The total production of silage this year is estimated at 8,463,000 tons, compared to 7,412,000 tons in 1918 and 6,846,000 tons in 1917. It is reported that 1.3 percent of the 1918 crop, or 904,000 bushels of corn, was still on farms of the state on November 1, compared to .5 percent, or 188,000 bushels, a year ago.

For the United States, the production of corn is estimated at 2,910 million bushels, compared to 2,901 forecasted on October 1, 2,583 million produced in 1918, and a 5-year average of 2,777 million bushels.

Stocks of old corn on farms on November 1 this year was 72 million bushels, compared to 118 million a year ago.

The average yield of tobacco per acre is estimated at 1,300 pounds, compared to 1,330 pounds in 1918 and a 10-year average of 1,166 pounds. Preliminary estimated production for the State is 62,400,000 pounds as compared to 64,070,000 pounds forecasted from condition on October 1, 65,170,000 pounds produced in 1918 and a 5-year average of 51,226,000 pounds. Average yield in leading counties is: Dane, 1,315 pounds per acre; Rock, 1,270 pounds and Vernon, 1,210 pounds.

Buckwheat yielded an average of 16.9 bushels per acre or a total production of 575,000 bushels, as compared with 613,000 bushels forecasted on October 1, 636,000 bushels produced in 1918, and a 5-year average of 338,000 bushels. Average yield in 1918 was 15.9 bushels, the 10-year average 14.9 bushels per acre.

Preliminary estimates of buckwheat production for the United States is placed at 20.1 million bushels compared with 18.2 million bushels forecasted on October 1, 17.2 million produced in 1918 and a 10-year average of 16.2 million.

In Rock county the average yield of corn for grain was 44 bushels per acre, compared to 39 bushels last year; of corn for silage, 8.2 tons, compared to 8.0 tons last year.
